

Solution

Solution

Here is an explanation of the finer point of this milestone.

In Step 5, we notice that the best performance is with the LOF variant with `n_neighbors=20` which coincides with what the documentation recommends. The performance increases till 20 and then starts dropping again. While better than the one-class SVM, the performance is not comparable with the best performing robust covariance or isolation forest.